MACHINE GUNS QUELL IRISH RIOTING

ELYRIA TELEPHONE SERVICE IS UNIFIED: TO EXPEND $60,000

By an order issued yesterday the long looked for merger of the Elyria Telephone Co., and the property of the Bell Telephone Co. in this city, has been authorized by the state public utilities commission.

Under the unified service furnished by the Elyria Telephone Co, the rates are to be the same as at present, and the Elyria company are to furnish the Ohio Bell toll facilities. This order it is explained is issued as an emergency, as the Andwur hotel building now occupied by the Bell is to be demolished to make room for the new bank building.

Manager Curren of the Elyria Telephone Co, states that the commissions' ruling as an emergency measure is different from any order ever issued by any commission in any state. A petition to allow the merger was filed with the commission by both companies in July, 1921. As a rule the general procedure in such cases takes from six months to a year. The necessary work of invoicing the properties took some time and the commission had not had time to go over it when the emergency arose.

By its order the commission has been generous to the public by granting the immediate unification The matter of rates to be charged, he states will be reserved until the commission's engineers have time to value the property.

All Bell telephones in the city will have to be replaced by Elyria dial phones and this work will be done at once unless an Elyria phone is already installed. The toll lines will be put in service by the home company as quickly as possible. Of the 500 Bell telephones where duplicates do not take place, the work of connecting them up will be completed in a short time.

The Elyria company paid $30,000 for the Bell property and it will require an expenditure of some $30,000 more in installing new equipment, and making necessary changes.

COUNTY JUDGE IS CITED IN LIQUOR RIOTS

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11. — Warrants for the arrest of more than a score of persons who were caught in the saloon raid conducted late yesterday and last night by state troops who have been on duty in connection with the strike at the Newport Rolling Mill were issued this morning by Oscar Roetken, United States commissioner These warrants charge violation of the federal prohibition laws.

One of the warrants was for the arrest of William C. Buten, county judge of Campbell county, in which Newport is situated. He is charged with "having knowledge of violations of the liquor laws in Newport and failing to report these to the U. S. authorities."

The majority of the other men for whom warrants were issued were saloonkeepers in whose places the soldiers charge they found whiskey and beer being sold. It was reported this morning that additional warrants would be issued for the

CORONATION OF POPE TOMORROW

ROME, Feb. 11.—Final plans for the coronation of Pope XI were completed today at the vatican. The pontiff will be crowned tomorrow with the triple tiara of the papacy amidst pomp and ceremony that date back for centuries. No crown in all the royal families of Europe is more elaborate than the tiara which is worn by the sovereign pontiffs of the Roman Catholic church. It contains more than six hundred gems—emeralds, topazes, rubies, pearls, garnets, diamonds and sapphires. It is surmounted by a gem encrusted cross and bears the papal coat of arms blazing with precious jewels. There was a tremendous demand for tickets, especially on the part of the American and other visitors in Rome.

The two American cardinals who arrived too late for the conclave, Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, and Cardinal Daugherty of Philadelphia, will both participate in the coronation rites.

The pontificate of Pope XI will date from the time he has been crowned.

MRS. ELSIE HANMER BATH STREET, DIES

Mrs. Elsie L. Hanmer, 213 Bath street, died at her home last evening. She was the wife of Clinton Hanmer, and is survived also by her daughters, Mrs. Effie May Hubbell and Mrs. A. C. Pomroy, Elyria, and a son, James Hanmer, of Pittsfield.

Sunday Address By Prof. Steiner

"The Present Mind of Europe" will be the subject of Prof. Edward A. Steiner's Open Forum address Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational church at three o'clock Few men know the mind of Europe as does Prof. Steiner. He is of its native stock, acquainted with the racial characteristics, war reactions and nationalistic fears and hopes, etc. of Europe. He thinks in old world terms as American. He is an authentic interpreter. Correspondent of the Outlook in Russia, his own personal investigations also have taken him to all parts of Europe. All who are interested in a discussion of the present world situation from the European angle should avail themselves of this most fortunate opportunity.

Mrs. Harold Metcalf of Oberlin will sing.

KUCH RITES MONDAY

Taylor Tragedy Is Extremely Baffling — Miss Mabel Normand Questioned But Gives No Tangible Evidence

By THOMAS E. WOOLWINE
District Attorney of Los Angeles County

(Copyright 1922 by the International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11—In the William Desmond Taylor case the police officers have been busy night and day working upon various theories and the statements of a great number of persons that we thought might tend to throw some light upon this mysterious killing have been taken by the district attorney We are, of course, but little beyond the very threshold of the investigation but I must say so far nothing has developed that has given us the slightest intimation as to who perpetrated the ghastly deed.

In all my experience, I have seldom, if ever, come in contact with any case that is so devoid of substantial clues. There remains a great deal to be done and we can only hope from day to day that this situation may change.

I have been informed that articles have been carried by the public press outside of the city of Los Angeles to the effect that the police authorities are not using

FOUR POWER PACIFIC TREATY INVOKES STORMY SENATE MEET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The four power Pacific treaty unexpectedly provoked a storm session of the senate foreign relations committee today when the members began a preliminary survey of the new international agreements evolved by the armament conference

For nearly two hours a heated discussion of the various provisions of the Pacific pact raged and the committee finally adjourned until Thursday without any agreement being reached as to which of the seven conference treaties should be acted on first.

It had been anticipated the naval treaty, as promising the least opposition, would be considered first, but several of the senate 'irreconcilables" who are members on the committee insisted that the Pacific treaty be taken up before any of the others.

Coal Miners And Rail Workers Meet Feb. 21

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb 11.—The first conference between coal miners and railroad workers for the purpose of forming a "defensive alliance" will be held in Chicago February 21, John L. Lewis, president of the United mine workers of America announced today Lewis announced that fifteen of the sixteen major railroad unions have accepted the invitation of the mine workers to the conference.

Attaches of miners headquarters declined to reveal which of the rail unions has not yet accepted Lewis' invitation, but the union chief said "there are reasons to believe" that the sixteenth railroad organization will accept shortly.

Practically unanimous acceptance, said Lewis, "reflects a determination to utilize every proper means to protecting the interests of the men employed in these basic industries."

"It is my firm conviction," he stated, "that the Chicago meeting will be fruitful of results that will reflect credit upon the associated organizations and demonstrate the capacity of labor to intelligently organize for promotion of its ideals"

Lewis declared the meeting has nothing to do with a farmer-labor party movement

MOTHER OF SIX TAKES POISON AFTER QUARREL

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11—Mrs. Mary Craigh, mother of six children, following a quarrel with her husband over money matters early today, took poison, in an attempt police say, to end her life. She is in a hospital where it is said that chances of recovery are slight.

Reciprocate In Releasing of Prisoners— Promise No More Ulster Frontier Raids

BELFAST, Feb. 11—(By International News Service)—Machine guns were used by the police today in quelling rioting between orangemen and sinn feiners. Fighting broke out when mobs attacked workmen on their way to their places of employment. The police opened fire with service pistols, but they proved ineffectual and machine guns were brought up. There was much disorder during the night. Mobs gathered in defiance of the curfew regulations and gave battle when the police tried to disperse them.

Great Britain has promised to send four battalions of British troops into Belfast to protect the city from irish republicans, according to a statement from Sir James Craig, unionist premier of Ulster today.

Craig said that no time limit had been set for the release of the Ulster hostages seized by the irish republicans and that he would confer with the police and military authorities before taking any decisive action.

Word has been received from the headquarters of the irish republican army that there will be no more raids over the Ulster frontier, but that the Orangemen kidnapped in Ulster will not be released until the officers of the irish republican army seized near Londonderry are released by the Ulsterites.

A commandant of one of the northern divisions of the irish republican army and his staff were all seized by Ulster unionists last Sunday while on their way to Derry to a football match. When word of the seizure of these men reached the headquarters of the republican troops in northern Leinster repruisal raids were organized

More special police are being recruited here and the military police authorities are preparing for any eventuality There was considerable shooting in the streets during the night and one or more bombs

LOWELL L. FARR, PIONEER, DIES

The death of Lowell Lovell Farr, 79, took place last night at the home of his son, William Farr, Stop 98, Oberlin Road, from an attack of heart trouble The deceased has been ill for some time.

He had lived in this county all his life, and was the son of pioneer parents who came to this county in 1817.

Mr. Farr is survived by his sons William and George, a sister, Mrs. Theodore Squire, and a brother, L. A. Farr. A daughter, Mrs. Cora Turner died last week.

Funeral services will be held at the home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Three Ask Court for Separation

Three divorce cases were filed in court today as follows:

Anton Bauer, Lorain, vs Anais Bauer. He states that his wife has become infatuated with a Lorain man, and that he visits her at their home. She refused to care for their baby when it was born and he has been compelled to find another home for it in order to save its life. He asks a divorce, alimony, and custody of the child.

Phyrn Greene vs Percy Greene, Elyria. Divorce asked on the ground of gross neglect of duty, and cruelty. She charges he has not furnished her with the common necessaries of life, and six months ago ordered her out of the house. She asks a divorce, alimony and restoration of her maiden name of Phyrn Faragher.

Pearl Binns vs. Samuel Binns, Gross neglect and cruelty. She charges him with being lazy and shiftless, and insisting that her mother shall support both of them. He has also been cruel and is charged with assaulting her frequently. Divorce, Alimony and custody of minor children.

Asserting that Abraham Lincoln has a double hold on immortality because he did two great things well, Bishop William Quayle of St. Louis, spoke for two hours on this greatest of Americans, at the Congregational church, before the Federation of Men's clubs, as well as a mixed audience, last evening.

Eloquent to a high degree, humorous far above the average, pathetic when he so desired, he had the rare faculty of appealing to the various emotions of his audience at will.

Born American

Lincoln, he declared was the first great American. Many look on George Washington as being such, but he was born a British subject on American soil. Abraham Lincoln on the other hand was the son of genuine American born parents, and was brought up under humble circumstances. The speaker told of the former glories of Asia and then Europe, after which America apeared upon the map. It took years to develop her, but the result was a new race of English speaking people. "We have no antiquity," he said, "but we have a tomorrow, and we have a future to give away. It is only sun-up in America at the present time. The most potent voice that calls across the water to the nations of the world is America."

"America is the cradle of Abraham Lincoln, for here he was born and here he died for the freedom of two continents; his own and down trodden Africa. America has no kings or potentates, but it has its Abraham Lincoln who outshines all of them, and it also has produced just plain men and women. It is easier to produce a race than a new personality," he said. "People were looking to the east and south for some great man to spring up but it was the middle west that produced Lincoln. The face of Lincoln is simply our face or in other words an American face pure and simple backed by a deep American character. He did not have any so-called ancestors. The American people don't need such trifles. He

SHERIFF NABS CHECK FORGER

After months of patient waiting and considerable detective work, Sheriff N. D. Backus has caused the arrest of John Lawrence Martin, at Pottsville, Pa., and last night returned with his prisoner.

Martin is charged with forgery, the offense having taken place in 1918 before Sheriff Backus went into office. He took up the hunt, and recently through New York City connections finally located his man, and he was arrested by the Pennsylvania State Police where he had recently gone to work in the State insane asylum as an attendant.

Martin in 1918 secured employment as a conductor for the Cleveland & Southwestern. He worked eleven days, and one day asked Miss Emma Scharfenberg, cashier at the local railway office to cash a check for him for $60. She did so, but the check proved to be a forgery. Martin disappeared, and also took with him the day's receipts that he had collected from his trip on the road. The hunt to locate him has been on since the time until finally he was apprehended.

Build House on Tree Top to Study Lorain County Eagles

By OTTO MISCHKA.

BROWNHELM STATION, O., Feb. 11.—(Staff Special)—Residents of Elyria, Ohio, and the nation before the end of the present year will have shown to them the minutest habits of the American Eagle, the bird that has made the American dollar famous and which personifies the fighting spirit of the world's greatest nation.

Professors of Western Reserve university, Cleveland, who are interested in the study of birds and especially in the eagle which has proven the most difficult to study, have undertaken the task.

The huge eagle's nest, located here, near the summer camp of Featherweight Champion Johnny Kilbane, near which are also the homes of wealthy Clevelanders including mentors of the Cleveland institution of learning. The location is perhaps midway between Lorain and Vermilion along the shore of Lake Erie.

Have Huge Nest.

The nest, estimated at twenty feet in diameter, is in a top-most crotch of a huge tree in a forest half a mile from the Cleveland-Sandusky concrete pike and within a stone's throw of the home of Henry Wagner, my father-in-law.

I have seen the eagles and their huge nest often. Several times after my father-in-law missed numbers of his chickens, we laid in wait for the eagles, hunted over when they attacked us, but never got a fatal shot at any of the birds. After our wrath was over and realizing the law forbade shooting the eagles we were glad that we were unable to shoot them

Once the male eagle, desperate in an effort to pick up chickens or lambs, attacked my sister-in-law, Martha Wagner. The bird swooped down upon her several times and she escaped by falling flat upon her stomach and crawling into a dog house to which the family canine had also sought shelter.

The eagles, troublesome to all farmers hereabouts, are most ravenous when the baby eagles are here and squeak for food. At this period the farmers have learned to keep their chickens locked up

Winter, Summer Home.

I saw the eagle's nest last Sunday. The nest at this time is barren. For many years the nest is abandoned in the winter months. The eagles don't go south but instead take up residences in the pine trees at Mill Hollow in the western part of this county and perhaps four miles from their summer home here. The winter home is wisely selected. It is in the valley of the Vermilion river, well sheltered from the wintry blasts.

They have never failed in fifteen years of observation to spend the winter months in the same place and the summer period in the same summer home. They have, one for the winter home and one for the summer home; they never change.

Already the eagles have taken a peep at the summer home to see if everything is allright, but after the inspection tour return to the winter quarters. Both the male and female bird made the inspection tour last Sunday. Usually it will be several weeks yet before they change homes.

Also Clean House.

The eagles clean house twice a year. Before they take up residence in their summer home they will clean out the nest of chicken, lamb and other bones. In the summer home they may add some twigs, pieces of cloth or rope. Before taking up their residence in their winter home they clean it out also of the bones from the spoils of living of the previous winter. For the winter home they add plenty of leaves and usually kill several sheep or lambs to eat and then use the wool to make the winter home comfy.

The eagles will shortly pair off. Just how many there are or where they will have their nests is never known. It is known that pa and ma eagles occupy the samehomes When the eagles are able to be pushed off the edge of the nest near here and the parents see that they are able to fly the eagles bid good-bye to their parents and they strike out in the world for themselves. Where they go to no one knows. Observers here believe that they never come back to the old home for year after year they never see but the parent eagles. The parent eagles make sure that the eagles are entirely able to fly. During the nesting period I have seen the parent eagles push off the brink of the nest their litter of four, five or six eaglets, see them flutter apay and maybe crash against a tree or fence. I have seen both pa and ma eagle make a valiant effort to get an eaglet who was incompetent to fly back into the nest and wait a few days before pushing the off-spring out of the home.

Get Complete Life.

The nesting season of the eagles will soon be here. Professors of Western Reserve university, cooperating with a film company, are preparing to get a complete life of the eagles.

In a large elm treet, not quite as tall as the tree in which is located the summer home of the eagles, the professors expect to establish a camp. This tree on top of which an observation house will be built, is perhaps seven or eight rods from the eagles nest.

The steel ladder up the side of the tree has already been [illegible] the construction of the house extended above the tree top will large enough in which the [illegible] ors will live, eat and sleep expect to cook their own [illegible] The house will be [illegible] enough to afford a long [illegible] moving picture machine [illegible] everything pertaining to [illegible] and habits of the eagles [illegible] never before been attempted [illegible] plished of the famous [illegible] bird.

JUDGE APPEALS FOR JUSTICE LAWS

Miss Florence Allen Gives Address Last Night at Oberlin Farmers' Institute — Continue Program Today

OBERLIN, Feb. 11—The program of the Forty-second annual meeting of the Lorain County Farmer's Institute held Friday, was well attended during the three sessions. The morning and afternoon meetings were held in Grange hall and the evening meeting took place in the Methodist church.

The music was given by Regenald Easterlake, a Japanese student in college. Mayor H. F. Smith gave the address of welcome, Howard Rodgers, county farm agent, gave the main address of the morning, his subject was "Present Day Problems of the farmer of Lorain County." "One of the problems is the different lines of farming, another which is the biggest problem confronting the farmer is marketing his products."

Mr. C. C. Maple led the discussion, V. C. Reese recited Pope's poem "On Farm Life" he also gave several original poems written while across. One of these was declared to be one of 50 best poems written during the war, and was inspired by a little girl.

Hon. George H. Chamberlain was not able to be present.

This concluded the morning program dinner was served in Grange hall.

The afternoon meeting opened with a piece of instrumental music by Reginald Easterlake. The next meeting of the Oberlin Grange is set for Tuesday, Feb. 24, in the afternoon. This meeting will take place in Grange hall, conducted by Howard Rodgers, county agent. The subject will be "Breeding."

At one thirty, Mr. Rodgers gave the address of the afternoon on "How to make poultry pay on the farm." Mr. Rodgers advocates better breeds for profit. The first essential is a good house, well lighted, with no drafts, but plenty of fresh air and must be thoroughly dry. The second is breeding and feeding demands a good feed ration, such as the following, pounds of corn meal, 100 pounds of ground oats, 200 pounds of bran, 100 pounds of meat scraps. For feeding sour milk always use chickenware, never galvanized vessels. The amount of mash that is fed determines the number of eggs.

Next the discussion was led by W. Cotton. A collection of $12 was received. Prof. E. D. Adams of Elyria "The Future Farmer—What Kind of an Education Should He Have?" The school has the child 6 hours a day, he said: "We must teach the child to work and have habits of industry. Boys and girls in the city have too much time to play, having nothing else to do. What kind of an education can a child require in 6 years? In 1916 the Smith-Hughes act became effective providing for the Agricultural schools".

Next the Round Table and conference discussion, led by E. J. Evans, "Rural Churches," "The rural church is the biggest asset in a rural community" an education without Jesus Christ is dangerous. A farmer is a christian he makes a good farmer, a good husband, a good father and a good citizen.

Mrs. Gibbons of North Amherst. There are 570 members in the Farmer's Grange with 40 waiting to be initiated. The evening meeting was held in the Methodist church. Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland. Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County gave a most interesting and clear address on "Justice and Citizenship" as follows:

"The main reason for the lack of confidence in our courts and other public institutions is the apathy of the people. The laws and court practices are just what the people want them to be. What is needed is constructive criticism and concerted effort to cause our legislators to revamp our laws and thus give our courts the instrument of justice."

HAS "DAPPER DON" KEY TO MYSTERIOUS DEATH OF TAYLOR?

"Dapper Don" Collins.

A search for "Dapper Don" Collins, notorious character in the east, is now on in the hope that through his capture important facts regarding the slaying of William Desmond Taylor, movie director, may be cleared up. Collins is said to have been in Los Angeles about the time of the murder. He is now under indictment in New York on a charge of felonious assault. The charge is the result of the shooting of John H. Reid in the home of Mrs. Hazel Warner in New York.

OBERLIN GLEE CLUB ANNUAL HOME SHOW NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT

OBERLIN, Feb. 11—Novel stunts, diversified chorus work and a big dramatic cantata are to be outstanding features of the annual Men's Glee club home concert to be given in Finney chapel Saturday evening, Feb. 18. Twenty weeks of careful rehearsal have worked out most of the rough spots in the club's singing and have put the 25 or 26 members "on edge" for this performance, considered one of the greatest musical features of the college year.

J. E. Wirkler, manager of the Club, promises "a strong cast of individual stars" for the unusual dramatic number, "trial by jury" which makes up the second part of the program. Every member of the club will appear in this big spectacle and advance reports say that "no one can afford to miss hearing and seeing this stunt."

Aside from the cantata an unusually well-balanced group of songs, with light work interspersing heavier numbers, is to be offered. A group of children's songs found especially effective on the eastern trip will conclude the program.

OBERLIN STUDENT IS GIVEN BRAVERY MEDAL

OBERLIN, Feb. 11—W. P. Farmin, '22, was awarded a gold medal for "life saving under perilous conditions."

The award was made Jan. 27, by the National Boy Scout Court of Honor, New York, through the Spokane branch.

The highest honors attainable by a scout were granted Farmin for the rescue, with a companion, of three out of four persons who were in danger of losing their lives one night last August when the small boat in which they were rowing on Diamond lake, Wash., capsized during a sudden squall.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bacon of Brownhelm attended the farmers institute here, Friday.

A collection of etchings loaned by the Brown-Robertson company of New York, is now being exhibited in the Art building. Mr. Ward believes these etchings are representative of modern American etchings. The exhibition is open to the public and will last for two weeks.

Prof. T. W. Graham will speak at the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday evening in the Men's building.

Admit Clues

their best endeavors to unravel this mystery, but from daily contact with the officers working on the case I have never seen any intimation of such an attitude upon the part of any of them.

LOS ANGELES Feb. 11.—After a four hour conference late last night between Mabel Normand, screen star, and District Attorney Thomas Lee Woolwine, which officials said had shed no new light on the slaying of William D. Taylor ten days ago, investigators today are continuing their tireless probe of new clues, including the recovery late last night of a blood-stained cap, which has been partially identified as the headgear worn by the man seen leaving the Taylor home the night of the murder.

The cap, light brown in color, but made in such a manner that it had given the appearance of plaid was found last night in the possession of Walter Thiele, who was booked on suspicion of a burglary committed the night Taylor was shot.

On the visor of the cap, officers found a bloodstain. The prisoner was unable to give a satisfactory explanation of this coincidence or how the cap came into his possession. Investigators today are questioning the man further in an attempt to ascertain if he might have any knowledge of circumstances surrounding the murder.

Shortly before the questioning of Miss Normand was terminated, her chauffeur, William Davis, was taken into one of the district attorney's private offices, where his statement of what transpired on the night of the murder was taken. Later he was taken before District Attorney Woolwine and questioned again in the presence of Miss Normand.

The private stock of liquor, declared to be of excellent brands and almost rare in the days of prohibition, that was found in the home of William Desmond Taylor, murdered film director, today furnished a problem for government officials.

The liquor under the strict dry laws of the country, cannot be turned over to heirs of the slain director and may have to be destroyed.

FRESNO, Cal., Feb. 11.—Sheriff W. F. Jones of Fresno county left here early today with a posse to surround a cabin at a point on the San Joaquin river, where a rancher reported a man giving the name of Sands and answering the description of Edward Sands, sought in the W. D. Taylor murder mystery at Los Angeles, had been living the past few days.

SUPPRESS HUN PAPER.

BERLIN, Feb. 11.—The only pro-ententist newspaper, Rote Fahne, issued illegally, was suppressed today on the ground that it was indirectly agitating overthrow of the government.

SAYINGS OF LINCOLN

Prosperity is the fruit of labor.

Let none falter who thinks he is right.

Come what will, I will keep my faith with friend and foe.

That some should be rich shows that others may become rich. All that I am, all that I hope to be, I owe to my angel mother.

I believe in the providence of men—the largest purse and the longest cannon.

Nowhere in the world is presented a government of so much liberty and equality.

To add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible.

Few can be induced to labor excessively for posterity, and none will do it enthusiastically.

I have always plucked a thistle and planted a flower when I thought a flower would grow.

If you aim too high your idea will go over the heads of the masses and only hit those who need no hitting.

If we could first know where we are, and whither we are tending, we could better judge what to do and how to do it.

Let us have faith that Right makes Might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.

The mystic cords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriotic grave of every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature.

KNIGHT FIGHTS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Representative Charles L. Knight of Akron, Ohio, who has been spoken of as a candidate for governor of his state, served notice today that he was "willing to listen but not to take orders" from the Anti-Saloon League, the American Federation of Labor, farmers, bankers, manufacturers, or "any other group trying to run this country." Knight's statements were made in a letter to M. C. Robinson of Ashtabula.

"In a moment of unusual modesty and with its usual charming tact," Knight said, "the Anti-Saloon league has just advised all candidates in Ohio to subscribe to its requirements, or else be measured for their shrouds.

"I do not know that I shall be a candidate for any office, but if I am I shall most respectfully decline to comply with the requirements.

"(The league) has its uses, but when it arrogates to itself the functions of a political machine, and insists upon the right to cut and try all candidates to its procrustean bed, I respectfully decline to become a victim.

"I would rather be a yellow dog and bay at the moon than such a candidate. Before I would yield to such demands, I would go back to what I have, and by its light leave Ohio and take to raising speckled peas on some windy hill with a bobtailed bull."

NEW ELECTRIC RATES DEMANDED AT LORAIN

LORAIN, Feb. 11.—At the council meeting Monday night the city council will take up the question of a new franchise for electric lighting with the Ohio Public Service Corporation. The company is asking an increase over its present rate.

FORMER VALET OF TAYLOR SOUGHT IN MURDER MYSTERY

Edward F. Sands.

That Edward F. Sands, former valet and secretary to William Desmond Taylor, murdered movie director, can furnish information on Taylor's life which will clear up the mystery of his death is the belief of police officials. The nation-wide search for Sands has been redoubled. Sands also is sought as a deserter from the army.

Bishop W. A. Quayle

was born in the south but brought up in the north. He had few books but such as he had he treasured. He did have the great face of nature that he worshipped to a marked degree and he worshipped it on every occasion.

God always has a good place for such boys to be, if they want to be right. It was not until after the great Douglas-Lincoln debate that Lincoln began to be the power that later developed into the greatest character the world has ever seen."

Just Plain American

"When you speak of Lincoln and when you study him, you find movement. He was a compound of prose and poetry. Fiction kept his feet on the ground, and poetry kept his head in the stars. He was the prosemaster of statesmanship, a compound of humor and pathos. Humor is a great human asset and Lincoln had it to a high degree. He was a profound believer in God, and was neither a pacifist or a militarist, but just a plain American. He was for battle if necessary, but an unalloyed democrat. His democracy saved the union. He caused people to sing, and he also taught the world heroism. Lincoln, in other words was and will always be the one great outstanding figure that the American people can point to with pride, as their great pattern and example of a strictly self made American product."

There was much more that the brilliant orator touched upon, and his lecture was punctuated with flashes of wit, and apt stories told in an inimitable way that kept the audience on edge and listening closely for fear they would lose some of the pearls that dropped from his eloquent lips. It was a great lecture, and will long live in the memories of those who heard it.

Many Attend Banquet

Prior to the lecture a banquet was served in the dining hall of the First Congregational church, and following the dinner Bishop Quayle was introduced by A. L. Werner, as chairman of the committee.

The Bishop spoke for a few moments before this group of men and proclaimed that the Christian men of every community were the men who should and who could, in the final analysis, control their communities for the better cause.

It was his contention that the vast majority of American people were sound upon the great moral issues but that a minority, a very noisy and vociferous group, were constantly attempting to put over those institutions which did not stand for the better things.

He appealed to all Christian men to work together for the great things which are worth while in life.

Build House

The home of the experimenting Cleveland performers, whose names are not disclosed, is expected to be completed and furnished by the time the eagles take up the summer home which is expected to be the latter part of March or in April.

Live in Tree-Top Home.

The house on the tree-top, according to present plans, will have cooking stove, rugs, beds and everything to make a home comfortable. There will be no music and the professors will have to spend their time in reading. Music might frighten away the eagles. The steel ladder, already built, will afford easy access to the home on the tree-top and is so located that the professors can go unnoticed to Lorain, Vermillion, Amherst, Sandusky, Elyria or Cleveland and get provisions. It is understood these professors in the plot plan to take turns at living in the house on the tree top. Maybe, to have company, the turns will be in pairs. It is probable that during the observation a professor and his wife may occupy this unique home and while the professor is jotting down notes of the famous bird for porterity the professor's wife can operate the moving picture machine.

The moving camera is expected to show the eagles returning to their summer home, cleaning out the nest, how they get their food and especially the killing of their prey after the chicken, usually, is brought to the nest. The camera will show, it is expected, the egg-laying period of the Eagle, picture of ma eagle during the brooding period, the eaglets, how they are fed, the protection given by ma eagle, which never leaves them, then the turning out of the home of the eagles and finally how ma and pa eagle love and coo during the remainder of the season alone.

The Yeomen will hold their next regular meeting Monday evening, Feb. 13, beginning at 7 o'clock and followed by a public card party and bazaar.

THANKFUL FOR A LITTLE CHILD

Mrs. Mertz Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Kutztown, Pa.—"I wish every woman who wants children would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has done so much for me. My baby is almost a year old now and is the picture of health. She walked at eleven months and is trying to use her little tongue. She can say some words real nice. I am sending you her picture. I shall be thankful as long as I live that I found such a wonderful medicine for my troubles."—Mrs. CHARLES A. MERTZ, Kutztown, Pa.

Many cases of childlessness are curable. Perhaps yours may be. Why be discouraged until you have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a faithful trial?

Spoken and written recommendations from thousands of women who have found health and happiness from its use have come to us. We only tell you what they say and believe.

We believe that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so well adapted to the conditions which might cause your trouble that good will come to you by its use.

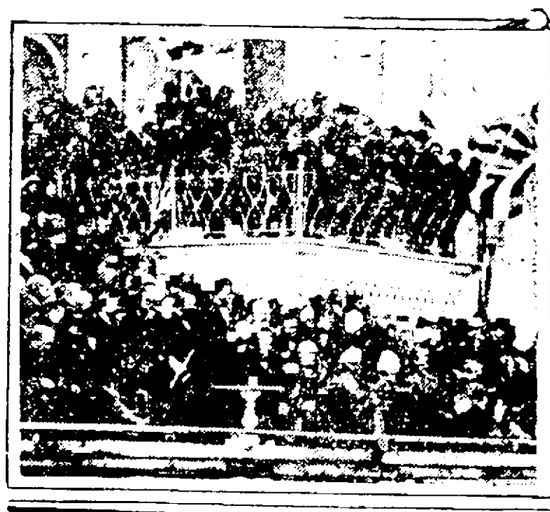
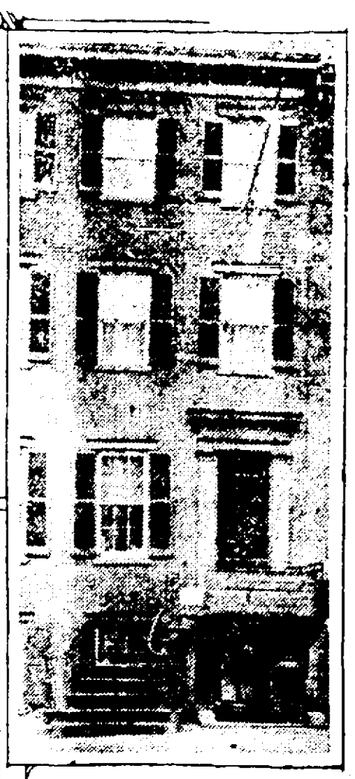
LINCOLN'S PICTURE IS FRAMED IN SPLIT FENCE RAIL; HIS INAUGURATION AND THE SCENE OF HIS DEATH





Above at right is the historic photo of Abraham Lincoln making his inaugural address March 4, 1861. He is standing by a table. At right is the house where he was carried when shot at Forbes' theater and where he died. The house now is the Lincoln National Memorial Museum. Below is a portrait of "The Rail Splitter," framed by E. M. Peck of Scranton, Pa., with pieces of a chestnut fence rail found in Wayne county, Pa., and believed to be at least 100 years old.

A hundred-year-old fence rail dotted with worm holes and dry as pith, is the unique frame that holds a striking photo of Abraham Lincoln, possessed by E. M. Peck of Scranton, Pa. The rail comes from Lincoln's birthplace in Kentucky and may well have been one that Lincoln split. Today the country is honoring the memory of Lincoln on the anniversary of his birth, Feb. 12, 1909.

The Study Window

By John H. Grant

Vow of the Camp Fire Girls Often Heard on Sunday.

Individualism, Socialism and the Christian Ideal.

Statistician to the Lord.

Roosevelt and Lincoln.

Churchmen as Givers

"God will take the man out of the skies before He will take freedom out of the spirit of man".

Sometimes a nation does not know what fine traditions are in the making among us "Is there any English organization," a British correspondent of one of the religious weeklies asks, "that supplies its members with so fine and moving an introduction to literature as this"? and quotes the "Firemaker's vow" which the American camp fire girl must be able to repeat from memory:

'As fuel is brought to the fire
So I propose to bring
My strength
My ambition
My heart's desire
My joy
And my sorrow
To the fire
Of humankind
For I will tend
As my father's have tended
And my father's fathers
Since time began
The fire that is called
The love of man for man
The love of man for God"

While such a purpose is rising in the lives of countless vigorous socially-minded, resourceful girls, who can despair of America?

A friend of the study Window who travels widely observed the verse below staring him in the face one day from the bulletin board of the Independent Presbyterian church in Savannah, Georgia. The Study Window agrees with him that it hits off a too common Sunday frame of mind

No pelting rain can me dismay,
When I have tickets for the play;
But let one drop the walk besmirch,
And its "too wet to go to church."

A recent editorial entitled "Socialism in Eclipse" comes to the conclusion

"The real justification of the existing order is that in it the foundation element is the responsibility of the individual for his own welfare, and that under Socialism the foundation element is the responsibility of the community for the individual's welfare"

Is there after all very much to choose between these alternatives? One of them is the selfish competitive ideal of much of the present economic order, the other is the selfish but weaker and more enervating ideal of Socialism The hope of the world lies elsewhere in the Christian ideal, the foundation element of which is the responsibility of the individual for the welfare of the community, rather than the responsibility of the community for the welfare of the individual The individual who places first the welfare of the community and lives and works to that end, he is precisely the man, and no other, who will realize his own highest possibilities and well being.

An earnest preacher in Georgia, who has a custom of telling the Lord all the news in his prayers, recently began a petition for help against the progress of wickedness in his town with this statement "O thou great Jehovah, crime is on the increase It is becoming more prevalent daily I can prove it to you by statistics"

Bill Sewell, guide and longtime friend said, speaking, from intimate association with Roosevelt in the Northern woods and on the Dakota cattle-ranges, "Roosevelt was always thinkin' of makin' the world better instead of worse"

One of the finest things Roosevelt ever said was in tribute to moral leadership. How phrase by phrase the following is the portrait both of himself and of our great, beloved Lincoln

"In order to succeed we need leaders of inspired idealism, leaders to whom are granted great visions; who dream greatly and strive to make their dreams come true; The leader for the time being, whoever he may be, is but an instrument to be used until broken and then to be cast aside; and if he is worth his salt he will care no more when he is broken than a soldier cares when he is sent where his life is forfeit in order that the victory may be won. In the long fight for righteousness the watchword for all of us is, Spend and be spent. It is of little matter whether any one man fails or succeeds; but the cause shall not fail, for it is the cause of mankind."

"What went far to wreck the Interchurch World Movement" says the Christian Century, "was the theory that there existed a great unchurched element in America which would be generous in giving if approached rightly. Those who carried the blue cards in that memorable campaign, discovered that the number of altruistic people outside the churches is exceedingly limited. The churches gave three million dollars for famine relief in China. The money for Armenia was largely secured in churches. Lodges, academic societies and social clubs with fixed membership charges are based upon the principle of a tangible return to each member. For his contribution. The churches on the other hand teach the virtue of giving without no return is expected. Upon Christian men and women trained from childhood on the habit of ministering to others, the great church [illegible]

EAST SIDE COMMUNITY
O B Githens, Pastor
Garford School Building

Great men have great messages. This is especially true of those who leave their messages written in terms of character Tomorrow, the nation celebrates the anniversary of one of the greatest statesmen, whose message was so vividly portrayed by his stern, rugged personality. He has well been considered as an ideal American whom all may safely follow. On this day his message will be stressed

At 3:00 p. m. the children of the community will meet for Sunday school work under the guidance of Mrs. Vida Githens and Mrs Silver Day. All young people are sincerely invited to take part in this work, there is a place for each one

At 3:30 p. m, the adults meet for an hour of worship in the school and auditorium Sermon topic will be "The Message of Lincoln for the Present Day." A cordial invitation is extended to all to unite in these services.

GRACE LUTHERAN

Corner Princeton avenue and East River street, Rev. Harry C. Muhly, pastor. Residence, 717 East River street. Phone 26052.

Sunday school — Adult Bible class—9.15 a. m.

Morning service at 10.45 o'clock. Sermon subject: "The Beatitudes."

Evening service at 7:00 o'clock Sermon subject: "Saint Paul at the Threshold of Eternity." This is the last sermon in a series on the life and labors of Saint Paul.

All men, both Christian and heathen, instinctively feel that a day of judgment will come when the injustices of this life will be corrected. It is this knowledge that causes the heathen to worship his idols with such earnestness and zeal. God's Word also tells us that after death comes the judgment, and that the ages of eternity will be spent either in heaven or in hell. Those who attend the services at Grace church will learn how to live and how to die so that they may escape hell and spend eternity in heaven.

"We preach Christ crucified."

SILK, WOOL AND STRAW MAKE THESE JUVENILE HATS

Perhaps the ancients could not make bricks without straw, but the modern milliners are not so limited when it comes to spring and summer hats. There are any number of smart new spring chapeaux fashioned of fabrics other than straw. Here are three pretty little hats for the jeune fille. They are ideal for school wear and are made of silk, wool and straw. All three of these hats are becoming to both the long and short-haired girls, which makes them doubly appealing.

RUTH FULLER STEVENS.

1 What departments of city government are normally under the Department of Public Safety, but in towns where the Department of Public Safety and Public Service are combined are taken care of by the one Director of Public Service?

Ans.—In general they are the two departments of police and fire protection tho the public Safety department also has control of all the charitable and reformatory institutions of the city, such as houses of correction, workhouses, pest houses and city hospitals and infirmaries, and these must also be handled by the one joint department

2 What is the organization of the Police Department?

Ans.—The Police Department of each city is composed of a chief of police and such inspectors, captains, lieutenants, sergeants, corporals, detectives, patrolmen and other police court officers, station house keepers drivers and substitutes as are provided for by the ordinances or resolutions of the city council

3 What authority and what duties has the chief of police?

Ans.—The chief of police has exclusive control of the stationing and transfer of all patrolmen and their officers and employees of the department, under such general rules and regulations as are made by the Director of Public Service.

4 Are there any policemen who are not on the classified list of the Police Department?

Ans.—Yes, the Director of Public Service may commission private policemen if they are provided for by order of the council and these are under his exclusive management and control.

5 What are the duties of the Police Department?

Ans.—The Police Department is commissioned with the protection of the lives and property of the citizens, the preserving of peace, the obeying and enforcing of all ordinances of the council and all laws of the State and the United States, in their own community

6 What constitutes the Fire Department?

Ans.—The Fire Department is made up of the fire chief and such other marshals, assistant marshals, firemen, telephone and telegraph operators as are provided by ordinances of the council.

7. Are there other employees of the fire department who are not directly under the fire chief?

Ans.-Yes, all surgeons, secretaries or clerks and other employees of the department are under the exclusive control and management of the Director of Public Service.

8 May the departments of fire and police be called upon by the city to perform other duties than those directly connected with their regular duties?

Ans.—They may both be called upon by the city government for any other duties which it thinks necessary and which are not inconsistent with their regular duties as prescribed by the council.

9 How are matters of discipline handled in the Fire and Police Departments?

Ans.—The chief of the two departments have the exclusive right of suspending any officers or employee of their respective departments for incompetency, gross neglect of duty, immortality, drunkenness, or failure to obey orders or for any other just reason.

10 What action is then taken?

Ans.—The chief suspending the officer or employee thus certifies the facts in writing to the Public Service Director, who makes such inquiries and investigations as are necessary, taking disciplinary action such as reducing the rank or dismissing the offender as the case may require.

11 Are the employees and officers of the Police and Fire Departments under civil service?

Ans.—Yes.

HOSPITAL TO HOLD ANNUAL MEET FEB. 15

The annual meeting of the Elyria Hospital Company will be held at the Memorial hospital on February 15th, at 7 p. m.

A full attendance is expected as the business before the meeting includes the election of trustees, reports of officers and committees, and the general affairs of the institution.

At this time it is thought that a short history of the company and the organization through which it operates will undoubtedly be of interest.

Formed in 1907.

The hospital is the direct result of the Memorial Day accident of 1907 as that catastrophe revealed so clearly and bitterly the town's meager and totally inadequate facilities for the handling of an emergency of such horrors and extent. Immediately after it, a group of the best known men associated themselves for the establishment of a hospital of sufficient capacity and equipment for the needs of the community and on June 5, 1907, the Elyria Memorial Hospital Company was incorporated, the incorporators being Messrs. E. F. Allen, W. W. Boynton, W. N. Gates, Sam B. Rawson and John P. Sala. At the first meeting of the company on June 17, 1907, Judge W. W. Boynton was elected president.

According to the Articles of Incorporation this company is a corporation, not for profit, duly organized under the laws of the State of Ohio, owns and controls all funds and property and is responsible for the conduct and management of the institution. It now numbers seventy-five members of whom sixty must be residents of orain county. Any person over twenty-one years of age is eligible and election is by two-thirds vote of the members present at the annual meeting. When a trustee dies the other trustees elect his successor.

Ex-Officio Members.

Ex-officio members are the Mayor of Elyria, the Chairman of the County Commissioners, and the Senior Judge of the Court of Common Pleas The members elect the Board of Trustees, of whom there are now eighteen, six being retired each year. The trustees in turn elect the officers for a term of one year The present officers are F A. Smythe, president, A L. Stark, vice-president; Charles E. Tucker, secretary; E F Allen, treasurer, and T L Moise, assistant treasurer. The trustees have a number of standing committees of which the most important are the Building and [illegible]

Belongs to City.

Such, briefly, is an account of the way the hospital is managed There will be reports soon concerning its financial, technical, and physical condition. Through its fifteen years it has steadily developed to a larger, better and higher standard, and its friends believe, to a better institution. It is run by Elyrians; it is run for Elyrians.

Elyria hospital belongs to Elyria. It is probably the best hospital in the state for a town of the size of Elyria

Russian actresses are said to excell those of all other lands in tragic roles.

AUTO INDUSTRY FIVE LARGEST DEVELOPMENTS

What have been the five biggest developments in the history of the automobile industry? In other words, what five things head the list of vital definite contributions to the industry's progress?

The answer, says the Chandler Motor Car company, has myriad ramifications and depends largely on the answerer and the character of his duties.

It is a question involving manufacturing, engineering, service, financing, advertising, selling, legislation and economic conditions The service man, for instance, may say that most of the major developments have resulted from the solving of problems of service.

In order to obtain a representative reply the question was put to executives and department heads of the Chandler company. Many agreed on certain items, while on the other hand, dozens of important developments were listed which really deserve classification as subdivisions on details of more important subjects.

In the composite answer, engineering is conceded three of the five points, manufacturing one and economic conditions the other.

Here is the Chandler answer.

1 Mass production
2. Good roads development
3. Interchangeability of parts
4 Mechanical control improvements
5 Beauty of design

Mass production is essentially a manufacturing accomplishment it has been a tremendous contributor toward bringing individual transportation within the bounds of the average man's pocketbook It has reached enormous proportions prior to 1914, but during and since the world war it has reached its greatest degree of perfection

Good roads progress, an economic development, has been hastened by the advent of the motor car era, and in turn has increased automobile ownership and travel immeasurably Under this the biggest single forward step was the signing of the Federal Aid roads act by President Wilson in 1916 which led to the $60,000,000 good roads bond issue by Illinois. Thus was started a wave of state bond issues which, with federal aid, has made available over $1,500,000,000 for good roads expenditure

The interchanging of parts, or standardization is a quasi engineering achievement. It has been of vital aid in mass production, consequently lowering the cost to the consumer. Now one may purchase a standard cylinder, piston, connecting rod, wheel or axle. This phase has greatly minimized manufacturing costs.

Mechanical control betterments have gone a long way toward popularizing motoring. Car owners of today can't understand how any one derived pleasure or utility value from a car void of such conveniences as the self starter, modern ignition and effective lubrication. They shudder when they think of the old lighting system when oil and matches were necessary to obtain illumination.

Beauty of design is another engineering contribution of moment. During recent years the entire general appearance of the car has been transformed with pleasing stream lines an low swung construction representing the chief changes Scores of unnecessary and unsightly parts have disappeared from curtains, windshield, hood and other portions of the car

While these five developments are considered by Chandler men as the most important, there are many others worthy of mention, such as Modern service practices and efficiency, financial arrangements which make it easier for the man of limited income to own a car, governmental recognition of the motor car as a national necessity, and the educational work being carried on by the industry.

MAN READS CHARACTER WHILE YOU WAIT

"Let me talk with a man ten minutes and I can pretty nearly tell you what kind of care he takes of his car"

"This may sound like a hard job," says F S Aust, Willard Service Station Dealer, but I believe I can do it"

"A man comes in some morning—shoes shined up clean shave, neat as a pin I say right away that man wouldn't drive a car that was a little bit out of adjustment Everything's got to be just right"

"Another man comes in a hurry—talks fast, rushes out again He's the sort of chap who's always dodging in and out of traffic, jamming fenders and so on He starts late to make an appointment and then tries to make up for it by speeding"

"A third one drops in—sort of easy-going, and he's the worst of all He's the sort who says, "I know blamed well that motor needs some oil—I'll chuck some in next Sunday" And then when Sunday comes he has something else on his mind and there's a bill to pay for new bearings"

"If anyone wants to study human nature, they ought to drop in here," says F S Aust "While I don't pretend to be a teacher, I believe I could hand out a few hints on character reading, at that"

FIRST AUTO BOUGHT HERE 19 YEARS AGO

Do you know who purchased the first automobile in Elyria? It was Fred Miller, and it was purchased nineteen years ago. The make of the car was the Elmore. It was a one cylindered motor car and sold for $550 delivered At that time there was no war tax or freight added.

The second car was sold to Jack Crisp and it too was an Elmore

Both these cars were sold by the same man H C. McKinley Mr McKinley is again active in the sales of automobiles, he having associated himself as salesman with the Hupp Motor Company The Hupp Motor Company's Elyria representative is located in the East Side Market and the proprietor is Russel L. K. Nicholl

Mr Nicholl was formerly with the Central Garage in Lorain He comes from Amherst and opened up his show rooms only recently. He however, is planning on an extensive sales room and at the present time is remodeling and decorating his sales room He will show a full line of Hupmobiles and will be dealer for the entire county.

Double Mileage; Half of Trouble

Think of an automobile running twice as far on a gallon of fuel as your present car, and giving half as much engine trouble as the machine of today'

This wonder, thanks to scientific research, soon will be an accomplished fact

Tellurium, heretofore considered a useless by-product in the electrolytic refining of copper and lead is now put to use in increasing the efficiency of gasoline.

So much so, that a compound of this metal has been obtained which its inventors say, will give 100 per cent greater mileage in high compression motors

Thomas Midgley and Thomas A Boyd, Dayton, O., chemists, have accomplished this result in an automobile equipped with a high compression motor and gear ratio altered to suit

They also found that the tellurium compound, added to the gasoline, prevented the knock which is so familiar to motorists when the engine is laboring up a grade with the throttle open

Production of tellurium by the copper and lead refineries, however, is insufficient for the demand, it is found Therefore search has been begun, through the American Chemical Society, for further production of the metal

Sulphurless Gasoline.

Promise of less engine trouble is given by the producers of a compound called silica gel, used in the physical refining of oil. According to J R. Wilson, secretary of the Baltimore corporation controlling the silica gel refining process:

"We have definitely proven in our laboratory that the elimination of practically all the sulphur content in gasoline and lubricating oil prevents the forming of gummy compounds on valve seats and the carbon deposit in the cylinders which causes so much annoyance to motorists

"In refining operations with silica gel not only is the sulphur content removed to many times the extent that the present treatment removes it but the unsaturated hydro-carbons are not eliminated except the small proportion that may be in combination with some of the sulphur compound present This avoids the large shrinkage that now exists in refining operations"

So, with a pinch of tellurium compound in this new sulphurless gasoline, the motorist may ride on with half the worry he has had.

NOVEL PLAN OF NEW CONCERN HERE

The Merchandising Service Company has opened an office at 108 Mill street under the management of R. M. Bennett, of Elyria.

This organization has a new plan in merchandising tires. They are going to sell on a thirty, sixty and ninety day charge account, and the basis of sale will be cash prices

There is no red tape or credit references required. If you are not known, use your license card for identification.

This plan is known as "The Thomas Plan" and has been in operation in Cleveland for over a year.

The Service Company will handle Goodrich, Kelley, Springfield, U. S., Fisk, Pennsylvania, and Columbia tires. These will be fresh and factory guaranteed.

THIS coupe, we are repeatedly told by its users, is the ideal car for both business and pleasure.
It is a remarkably compact car—neither too big nor too small—with roomy seating capacity for four passengers. And it is comfortable to the point of luxuriousness; not alone because of the depth and subdued richness of the upholstery, but by reason of the finely balanced chassis as well.
In action it is a wonder. Even in densest traffic, gear shifting is almost never necessary. And on the open road it need take no one's dust.
Examine this car in detail. Let us demonstrate all its capabilities and prove its economy of operation and upkeep. If you will do this we shall be perfectly satisfied to leave the question of its comparative value entirely to you.

Hupmobile
There are four real questions when you buy a car—What will it cost to run? Will repairs be heavy? How long will it last? What will it bring when sold? If you get the same answers as the man who buys the Hupmobile, you can be sure you have not paid too much.
Hupmobile running economy is known to be truly exceptional.
Owners will tell you their repair bills are unusually light.
It is a fact that many Hupmobiles serve three or four long-time owners before they wear out. Used car dealers all know the car commands a price above the average.
These things are true of the Hupmobile because it is built to last and to keep going on the minimum of lay out; and because they are true, the car is worth what it costs.

MOTORS AND THEIR CARE

Mistakes Will Happen

Never misjudge the gear shift or the car for the emergency brake, nor the foot accelerator for the clutch pedal

Replacing a Rim

To replace a rim on the wheel, tighten one lug a little then the one opposite a little, and so on until all are snugly in place.

A Beauty Hint

A tire that "bellies out" just above the point where it touches the ground should be inflated immediately until it is well rounded

Beware of Poisonous Gas

Running the engine of a car to warm it up in a small closed garage is almost as dangerous as blowing out the gas before going to bed

Insist on Staple Goods

Never buy a nameless automobile tire tube part or accessory The manufacturer who is afraid to put his name on his product is ashamed of the goods

Use for an Old Inner Tube

A piece of an old inner tube placed between the casing and a blowout patch will remove much of the friction between the two fabrics and prolong the life of the patch indefinitely.

When caught with all four wheels of the car on wet trolley tracks the only safe way to get out without serious skidding is to slow down and sharply turn the front wheels to the right or left

The Source of Noises

Loud squeaks in the car sometimes come from the rubbing of the body where it rests on the chassis Loosen the body bolts, and the noises will be eliminated

Brake Rods and Connecting Parts

A monthly inspection should be made of the brake rods and connecting parts Clean off all the accumulated dirt and rust, so that they will act as freely and efficiently as possible Apply a half and half solution of kerosene and lubricating oil, and the brakes will work easier and better

To Clean Radiator Cells

Mud and dirt have become hardened in the cells of the radiator should never be removed with wire or a tool The thin cell walls are easily punctured and small leaks in the radiator invariably result. Use water directed from a hose to clear the passages with the stream guided from the engine side.

AUTO NOTES

Washing a car when it is not will ruin the finish.

New French car has a locker in the rear, for spare tire and tools

A Denver man has built a steam-drive motorcycle

New auto signal device provides 8 different signals

Minnesota has between 70 and 80 bus lines

Bent steering knuckle will throw the front wheels out of alignment

Disengage the clutch to make starting easier

Roads in the United States total 2,478,052 miles

Only about 10 or 12 per cent of the U S roads are surfaced

Nearly 28,000 miles of good roads were constructed in this country in 1921

A power-driven tire pump attachment has been invented as an accessory for low priced cars

A golf bag holder on the running board has been made for auto-golfers

Extra seat which pulls out of the side like a drawer is a feature of a new roadster

Small headlight for the rear of the car is a new appliance to guide the driver while backing up

Trailer with four wheels on one axle, for heavy loads, has been built for a steel firm

Chicago prohibits the use of the same shade of red on private automobiles as that used on fire trucks

Valve stem and stay bolts of tires should be kept tight to keep out the water and dirt

New Jersey fines motor truck owners from $100 to $250 for overloading

First American transcontinental auto race was staked in 1904 between Washington, D C, and Seattle

Leaky valves can be detected by turning the motor over with the crank to test loss of compression.

Badly leaking valve sometimes makes a hissing sound when the motor is running

Although of slower combustion, kerosene contains more heat units pound for pound, than does gasoline.

By a mirror arrangement, a compass in the top of an automobile, tells the driver the direction he is going.

Excessive Gasoline Consumption

Excessive use of gasoline is due to a faulty carburetor adjustment, a poorly designed carburetr or intake manifold, or to keeping the engine cylinders at too low a temperature because the water in the cooling system is too cold.

Careful Driving

Drive slowly and cautiously over a rough road, especially where large rocks stick up out of the roadbed The blows from the rocks not only will ruin the tires, but also may be the cause of a broken spring or broken steering mechanism

Causes for Overheating

Overheating of an engine is caused by excess carbon in cylinders, poor lubrication, poor cooling, improper valve and ignition timing, valves not seating properly, spark advanced too far, radiator not functioning properly, or improper fan adjustment.

To Overcome a Difficulty

One of the newest ideas regarding safety on the highways, especially at night, is the suggestion that pedestrians on the left hand side of the road keep out of the range or path of an automobile approaching from the rear

YOUR LAST CHANCE

Subscription lists are about to close for forming a company to manufacture an invention that will reduce the H C L. and fill the coffers of those who get in on the ground floor.

This is an attachment patterned after a street car guard. When the driver runs over a chicken or turkey, instead of leaving the fowl dead on the road, it scoops up the bird, runs it past the engine fan, which is ingeniously arranged with knife-like blades that dress, clean and cut up the fowl

The erstwhile feathered victim then lands in a pan attached to the engine, which cooks it by heat from the exhaust pipe, by heat from the exhaust pipe, by dripping on the bird, so that gravy is made if desired

Several trial trips, at first seemed failures, but when the hood was raised an abundance of roasted fowl had been bagged.

If this don't interest you, at least let us save you some money by insuring your automobile in The Great American Mutual Indemnity Company. A company of the people, by the people, for the people.

SPORTS

Absence Of Koppes Enables Norwalk To Trim Elyria 28-16

By CLIFF C. HENNINGS
Staff Special

NORWALK, Feb. 11—In one of the most exciting and perhaps roughest games played on the local High School floor this year the local high floor artists triumphed over Elyria High 28-16. The "red and white" team however put up a game fight in spite of the fact that their captain and best player was absent due to illness. Norwalk's victory forces Elyria into the cellar position with the local team occupying the chair just ahead of the county seat lads.

Good Battle

Although the score indicates otherwise the game was a real battle and at times grew rather rough. The climax was reached in the third quarter when Craig, left forward for Norwalk, was sent from the floor by referee Metcalf, for slugging Crowe of Elyria. The passing of the Norwalk team was fast and peppy making the game a real fast affair from foremost to the end.

Elyria Handicaped

It was plain to those present that the Elyria team was at a loss without its regular captain in the fray. The local crew piled up thirteen points in the first half, while Elyria was making six, but "Smiley" Squire, Elyria's acting captain finally got his men collected and they started to play a more steady brand of ball, as they began cutting down the lead of the local totals. The half ended with Norwalk on the larger end of the 16-7 count.

Come Back Strong

Both teams came back strong in the second half, but Norwalk's five men defense worked almost to perfection as nearly every shot tried by Elyria was from mid floor. Elyria was also played a good game on defense. The work of Squire and Crowe deserve much comment while Guthman was offensive star for Elyria, scoring three field goals. Prescott and Bowers of the local team played best for Norwalk scoring twenty-two of their team's twenty-eight points.

With their captain back and the same fight shown in practice and during the game last night the Elyria team should take Fremont into camp on the Elyria floor next Friday evening.

THEY'LL GUIDE TEAMS FROM OUTFIELD

Three playing outfielders will manage teams in the American League this season in the persons of Ty Cobb of Detroit, Tris Speaker of the Cleveland Indians and Clyde Milan of the Washington Senators.

Cobb and Speaker held the position of player-manager last year, while Milan, who played in the outfield for Clark Griffith's baseball nine last season, succeeds George McBride as manager and will keep on directing the affairs of the team from his outer garden position.

OBERLIN LOSES CAGE PLAYER

OBERLIN, Feb. 11—Oberlin's basketball squad received another jolt today when it was learned that the faculty had declared Bob Jones and Ray Young ineligible for the remainder of the season.

This will be a hard blow to the team's chances against Reserve for they were both first string players. Jones alternated at forward and center, and Young played a steady game at guard, when called upon.

Of the first five men who started the Otterbein contest last Thursday, only Harold Wood, center is in good condition to start Saturday night.

Coach Kellar said today that he had no idea who would start the game against Reserve. If the regulars are in shape they will be used; otherwise, Kellar may have to recruit some material from the various class teams.

OBERLIN CAGERS TO TOUR EAST SHORTLY

OBERLIN, Feb. 11—An eastern trip, formerly a feature of Oberlin's basketball schedule, will be resumed for the first time after an interval of two years.

Three games are scheduled for three successive days. The team will play the University of Buffalo at Buffalo, Feb. 15 Syracuse Feb. 16, and Hamilton at Clinton, N. Y. Feb. 17.

DIRIGIBLE Z R 2 DISASTER WAS AVOIDABLE

LONDON, Feb. 11—The disaster of the dirigible Z R 2 with the loss of more than two score lives might have been averted if the proper preliminary tests had been made, according to the report of the technical committee of the Royal aeronautic society which will be made public soon. The committee has been making a thorough investigation into the catastrophe.

The International News Service learned today that the report will declare that tests of strength regarding the construction plans of the Z R 2 were abandoned because of lack of funds. Building of the airship was then undertaken on the basis of uncompleted experiments.

Richard Glazebrook, director of aeronautics in the imperial college of technology and a member of the investigating committe, admits that the builders proceeded with the construction of the dirigible although not satisfied with the information that had been supplied them by Great Britain.

As a result of the disaster Great Britain has abandoned the Z R type and in the future will copy the type of German zeppelins.

WANT NEW TRIAL OF THATCHER CASE

A motion for a new trial in the case of Edith Thatcher, administratrix of the estate of Dr. W. F. Thatcher, against the Lake Shore Electric railway, was heard today. Mrs. Thatcher sued the Co. for $100,000 damages for death of her husband, an Oberlin physician. At the end of the case at the last term of court, a jury decided for the railway company. Nearly the entire morning was taken up in arguing the case, and Judge Redington took it under advisement.

MANUFACTURER SHOOTS SELF

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 11—Clarence J. Cruby, 56, vice president of the Smith and Davis Manufacturing Company was found dead today in his room at his home. Members of the family declared he was killed when an automatic pistol which he was cleaning accidentally exploded.

According to members of the family, Cruby, just before starting for his office declared he was "going to clean up a gun."

$30,000 FIRE AT CINCY

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11. Fire in the building occupied by Blossom and Company, dealers in wool clippings, late last night caused a loss estimated at $30,000. Flames for a time threatened to spread to other buildings in the west end of the city. Eleven firemen narrowly escaped death when walls of the burning building collapsed.

arrest of city and county officials, who, it has been alleged, have been failing to enforce the laws they knew were being violated.

The city wide cleanup was executed by 50 squads of soldiers, each accompanied by an officer and a prohibition agent. These men at a designated hour swept down on more than two score saloons, locking the doors of each place and holding all customers inside until after a thorough search was made and all liquor and gambling machines were confiscated.

GERMANS FAIL TO MIGRATE TO U. S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11—The expected flood of German immigrants to the United States following the resumption of diplomatic relations has not taken place, according to figures made public today by the labor department.

Records show that only 11,295 Germans have been admitted to this country during the present fiscal year, although Germany's quota under the three per cent. immigration law is 68,039.

Mendelson Gets Lorain Contract

LORAIN, Feb. 11.—S. Mendolson, Elyria, has been granted the right to collect garbage in this city for five years. He agreed to do the work for $30,000, and his bid was the lowest one submitted.

LONDON, Feb. 11—The British government is releasing from English jails all sinn fein prisoners found guilty of political offences committed in England previous to the Irish truce, Colonial secretary Winston Churchill announced today. An investigation is being made of political offences committed since the truce came into effect.

DUBLIN, Feb. 11—Feeling between the orangemen and the sinn feiners is running high along the Ulster frontier, but no further fighting had been reported this morning.

The Irish provisional government has issued a decree signed by Michael Collins, minister of finance granting general amnesty to "all members of the British military, naval and police forces for acts of hostility to the Irish people."

This decree was to reciprocate the British grant of amnesty to the sinn feiners.

Important Dates In Lincoln's Career

Feb. 11, 1809—Born in Hardin county, Ky.
April 21, 1832—Elected captain of a company raised at Richmond, Ill., for service in the Black Hawk war.
1833—Appointed postmaster of New Salem and held the office for three years.
1834—Was elected a member of the Illinois legislature and was re-elected in 1836, 1838 and 1840, after which he declined further election.
1835—Began the practice of law in Springfield, Ill., in partnership with John T. Stuart.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHPLACE AND A HIGHSPOT IN HIS LIFE

The nation pauses, today to honor once again the memory of Abraham Lincoln on the anniversary of his birth. He was born Feb. 12, 1809. His rise to the presidency from the lowly station of a backwoods boy furnishes an inspiring chapter in the nation's life. His emancipation proclamation, freeing the slaves, was one of the most momentous documents in America's history.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Tomorrow will be the one hundred and thirteenth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln was undoubtedly one of the most mysterious, fascinating and loved characters in American history. He was one of the characters which vindicate the idea that at crucial periods men are raised up to meet special crises.

He was born in obscurity, poverty, and almost squalor. He exemplified, in varying degrees, nearly every virtue which combines to make the ideal American. He was not perfect, but in his imperfections, even to a greater degree than his perfections, are we able to see the great human heart of Lincoln, which causes all people to feel that in him they could have an understanding friend.

Brooding over his life there seemed to be a solemn melancholy, which has never been understood, and appears to be more unfathomable as the time of his earthly life recedes from the present.

Unblessed by an ideal home, yet there was sufficient touch of love and sympathy through the memory of his own mother, and the limited guidance of his foster mother, which affected for good the most profound depths of his nature.

Without the privileges of schooling he developed himself into a real student, an able lawyer, and a profound statesman.

He learned early the value of moral and spiritual truth, and insisted that devotion to them would eventually bring success. His achievements vindicated this philosophy.

The position which he assumed in his debates with Douglas illustrated this truth. Lincoln knew that the position he assumed in that contest was most likely to cost him the senatorship of Illinois. But he also knew that he had taken an eternally right position upon the question which was pressing for solution and to which right position the people must eventually come.

His was a nature that harbored no resentment, and if the south could have understood the sincerity of his utterances, the nation would have been saved from the tragedy of a civil conflict.

Abraham Lincoln had, to the supreme degree, the one prime qualification which is found in every man who is called upon to lead on behalf of human rights at any period. That qualification is the realization of the sense of injustice, which humanity suffers, and a determination to do what he can to remove that injustice, by walking unreservedly and unhaltingly in the path which he believes to be God-made.

When Mr. Lincoln was on his way to Washington to be inauguration he went by way of Philadelphia. In his address in Independence Hall he gave utterance to these words:

"I can say that all the political sentiments I entertain have been drawn, so far as I have been able to draw them, from the sentiments which originated in, and were given to the world, from this hall. I have never had a feeling politically that did not spring from the sentiments embodied in the sentiments of the declaration of independence."

Searching through the sentiment contained in this language possibly we can see a deeper meaning in Lincoln's life and labor. The fourth of July 1776 gave expression in America to the idea that all men are created equal. The signature of Mr. Lincoln in 1863 to the emancipation proclamation was the fulfillment of the meaning of that declaration of independence.

Mr. Lincoln spoke a universal language. He seemed to understand all natures. He was a classic. He is loved increasedly by the millions as his life is more completely studied.

The lessons of love, of patience, of devotion, of honesty and sincerity are such as will benefit, to the highest degree, the citizens of America, if properly learned.

HIS WORDS ARE ASAPT NOW AS IN '65

"LET US STRIVE ON TO FINISH THE WORK WE ARE IN; TO BIND UP THE NATION'S WOUNDS, TO CARE FOR HIM WHO SHALL HAVE BORNE THE BATTLE, FOR HIS WIDOW AND HIS ORPHAN—TO DO ALL WHICH MAY ACHIEVE AND CHERISH A JUST AND LASTING PEACE AMONG OURSELVES AND WITH ALL NATIONS"

One of my kids is named "Billie." He's three years old. I was telling a guest his age but he wouldn't believe it. He said "It was impossible for a kid to get that dirty in so short a time."

Is Dan Holding Out On Us?

The society editor tells me that every day or so an item is phoned in about Mrs. Dan Symmons. I thought Dan was too busy at city hall to assume any more obligations. Either pass the cigars Dan, or explain.

Did you ever notice that Mayor Jones has the side of his machine lettered? He got stalled down in Cleveland last week the regular price for hauling a car in is $5.00, the garage man read the inscription, "A. R. Jones, Mayor of Elyria, O.," and let him off for $2.50. It pays to advertise.

There was a lady sitting in the aisle seat in the Colonial yesterday. They built her when goods was cheap. She weighed better than two hundred pounds. A man farther in wanted to leave. He tried to pass her. "It couldn't be done." Finally he stepped over the seat and left by way of next aisle back of him. "That's the way we do in Wellington," he says and was on his way.

John Rapple says "He was driving down Broad street the coldest day this winter and he saw a fellow walking along the sidewalk reading a magazine.

To The Voters of Lorain County

I am a candidate for County Recorder, subject to the Republican primaries to be held August 8th, 1922.

I have been Deputy County Recorder for nearly Eleven years and part of the time, owing to the unfortunate accident of Recorder Frank Irish, have been in active charge of the office. I believe I am competent to manage this important office and if the voters of the county feel that I am worthy of consideration and will give me their support and votes at the primaries, I shall be very grateful, and if nominated and elected will see that the business of the office is conducted efficiently and as economically as possible.

Very respectfully

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON

GETTING STATISTICS ON HER.

Henry J. Knorr, an engineer, filed suit for divorce from Esther H. Knorr.

The bill bristles with statistics of Mrs. Knorr's alleged marital misdemeanors. Here are a few of the derelictions as set forth by the husband in his bill:

Sixty-five nights away from home between January 1, 1920, and January 1, 1921.

Twenty-eight nights in the same period she was out until 1 or 2 a. m.

One hundred and forty-nine times she forgot to get breakfast.

Eighty-four times she failed to prepare the evening meal.

Twenty-five times she threatened to stab him or fill him full of lead.

Furthermore, the husband alleges, the wife is an inveterate cigaret fiend, buying and smoking "dream sacks" by the hundreds.

Some guys he asked his wife for an explanation of her conduct and it was none of his business.
